Middle East and North Africa Copper Use Study: Capacity and Industrial Use of Refined Copper and Scrap in the MENA Region

2014

- This regional study completed in June 2014 covered over 2.34 million tonnes of copper and copper alloy semi-fabrication capacity in the region and a regional output reported of 1,731.3 kt for 2013.
- The plants included in the study covered most of the known MENA capacity to process refined copper and scrap and included the most important regional users of refined and scrap copper.
- Turkey and the United Arab Emirates constitute 42.9% and 21.6% respectively of total installed capacity studied in the report. Saudi Arabia constitutes 12% of total installed capacity included in the study with 212kt.
- Iran has a small number of semi-fabricators, contributing 11% to total installed capacity (327.5kt) and Egypt accounts 13% of total installed capacity (304kt).
- Iraq has a total installed capacity of 24kt or 9% of total installed capacity in the region. Oman (30kt), Kuwait (15kt), Israel (12kt) and Tunisia (2.5kt) are the other countries with a semi-fabricator presence that are considered in the report.
- This 92 page MENA region report includes a plant by plant database, a country by country discussion of recent industrial copper use trends, and a country by country database of copper and copper alloy scrap trade in the region.
